passed through the gates of the fair grounds at Lisbon at noon today, the second day of the 80th annual Columbiana county fair.

Roads are jammed.
Improved roads leading into Lisbon were jammed with a steady stream of motor cars which began pouring through the gates of the fairgrounds at 8 o'clock. The oval dreds of others were parked along the streets and in vacant lots.

Despite Monday's rains the race track was in good condition when the speed events started this morning. Three races, with totaling $1,200, were slated for today.

The Presbyterian Church band was in charge of the music. Street where an all-day concert will be given in the grandstand.

A Brain Cure.
MacDonald's Mistake.
A Car Under $200.
Some Dead Bedouins.

PROF. STEINACH, of Vienna, serious scientist, who has made old men temporarily young by transplantation of monkey glands, announces a discovery more amazing and important.

A SUBSTANCE called "centronervin" isolated from internal organs of frogs, is called the first remedy ever found for mental deficiency.

DR. STEINACH believes that he will double, at least, the inborn power of a human brain!
That seems a good deal for a frog extract to do. But nothing is impossible.

RAMSAY MACDONALD is said to be coming to America with the idea that he can persuade this government to allow 339,000 tons of cruisers.
America, contending herself with 300,000 tons.

IF that is so Mr. MacDonald is wasting time on a trans-Atlantic trip. He does not know President Hoover, if he thinks the president will consent to any inequality.

CONSIDERING that we could afford a navy of any size, and that Britain cannot afford to compete, our suggestion of equality should be accepted with gratitude.
When the British had the money they always had the biggest navy.
And they didn't arrange any conference about it.

IT is announced, apparently on good authority, that Gen.
Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has completed his plan to distribute automobiles through the mail for less than $200.

The car will be shipped in a box that can be used afterward for a garage.

sents a new idea. No old-fashioned

The blasts, all three of which

Two bombs, which were placed under the home of John Guidice, 51, tore a hole in the wall of his bedroom by the force of the explosion.

L. W. Simms, 48, died in a Wooster hospital today from wounds he received yesterday when the charge from a shotgun struck him in the Grover Arnold was the first hunting victim to be reported in Coshocotton county. He was punctured with 25 leads from a shotgun charge which was fired by another hunter.

that C. A. Murray, 37, of that city, was shot in the arm and head when his gun accidentally discharged while he was hunting near Loudonville.

When Milton Hopp, who was hunting in the wooded section on

UNCLE POM

By Henry C. Rowland

A sparkling, swift-moving mystery romance.

SYNOPSIS.

Pomeroy Penfold, a wealthy American widower nearing fifty, loves to travel and visit friends. When the story opens he is a guest at the chateau of his sister, Alicia, and her husband, the Comte de Penfold. He is disturbed by the sight of an intruder—a man in a sailing costume—who appears on the estate and stares rudely at Maia, the comte's lovely 29-year-old daughter by a first marriage. Maia admits having met the man in America and says his name is Capt. Seagrave.

That afternoon Kirby Colton, handsome scapegrace son of an American bishop, an old friend of Penfold's, calls at the chateau unexpectedly and is invited by the comte to spend the night. He, too, has met Maia in America, and Uncle Pom thinks she is the reason for his appearance.

The comte surprises Uncle Pom by telling him that Maia loves him and indicates that the marriage would please him. The girl is more than 20 years his junior, and while Penfold has always admired her enormously, the thought of marriage has never entered his head. Maia overhears them and confirms her father's remarks.

Later she confesses that both Kirby and Seagrave have proposed to her. Uncle Pom knows the two men hate each other and he fears they will clash, so he goes in search of Kirby. He is attacked and knocked unconscious, and a belt he wore, containing priceless diamonds, is stolen. When the comte suggests that Kirby may be the guilty one, Penfold defends him hotly.

INSTALLMENT X.

A MIDNIGHT PROWLER. Mr. Penfold permitted himself to relax. He dozed a little and, presently awakening, found it was dark outside and his room dimly lighted by a little veilleuse oil lamp on his table de nuit. Maia came in from a room that communicated with his own and gave him his sedative potion.

"I shall sleep in the next room, Uncle Pom," she said, "so if you feel bad or want anything you have only to call. But I'm sure you are going to have a good night. The doctor says you're as healthy as a boy of ten."

Mr. Penfold protested a little at her night nurse service; then, presently, as the medicine had its effect, fell asleep. He awoke some time in the middle of the night with a premonition that something was wrong. The premises were plunged in quiet and for several moments he lay listening acutely. Then he got softly out of bed, went to the window, opened the volets, and looked out.

The moon was high, full, and directly overhead, but the intensity of its light was softened and diffused by that atmospheric haze that makes Brittany so colorful and so dear to the heart of painters. If it had not been for his curious nervous apprehension that something was out of order, Mr. Penfold would have calmly indulged his dilittante appreciation of a perfect mystic night in a region drenched in glamour.

But something had roused him. Maia had insisted on sleeping in a guest room next his own that had been assigned to Kirby Colton. A communicating door was open, so that if he called or was even restless she might be aware of it. It seemed now to Mr. Penfold that he had been vaguely conscious of the curtain rings sliding, and he thought it probable she had stood for a moment listening to hear if his breathing was regular and quiet.

He stepped from the window to the door and said softly, "Maia." There was no answer. He was about to go back to bed when it occurred to him if he had indeed been roused by the sliding of the curtain Maia could scarcely have fallen to sleep so soon and would have heard him. He was by this time convinced that somebody had been moving close about him.

There came the faintest sound from the direction of the window in the other room. One of the iron volets was being softly opened, as Mr. Penfold could tell from the faint metallic creak, then by the dim moonlight that entered. This was faint, because that window was shaded by a big lilac tree of full foliage. Still, the slight increase in illumination was perceptible. There could be but one conclusion—some midnight prowler was in that room and making ready to leave it by slipping the window and dropping to the ground.

For the first time in his life Mr. Penfold was gripped by an impulse of primitive passion, and it was combative. Also, as is apt to be the case with a person having no previous experience, it was reckless, the sort of blind daring that one might have in a horrid dream. Without pausing to weight the risk, he flung back the portiere and plunged into the room toward the window.

He was met by a counter attack that was swift, violent and silent. A dark shape, hitherto invisible against the wall in the shadow of the light squared by the window casing, hurled itself at Mr. Penfold like a huge jinn materialized from the gloom. Before he could cry out he was jammed back against the wall, with his throat in a strangle hold that felt like the grip of a gorilla's paws, with thumbs forcing shut his larynx.

"Tais-toi," growled a low voice that was thick and guttural, a superfluous order, as Mr. Penfold had not made a sound, not could he have done so.

He found himself swung bodily to one side and backward and crammed into a placard or shallow closet. The door swung shut and locked. For a minute or two Mr. Penfold huddled back against the wall, clearing his throat and getting back his breath. He was more angry and outraged than hurt or frightened. It occurred to him then that his condition was merely a change from an immediate to a slower process of suffocation, as the little closet was apt to be closely built in.

Its shallowness now proved his salvation. He had slumped down on to the floor, with his shoulders against the wall, so that by placing his feet against the door with knees flexed he was able to exert powerful pressure through his tensor muscles, that were strong and heavy. Applying this force, it was evident that either the door would split or the lock tear out, and the latter immediately happened with a sharp rending sound.

Mr. Penfold clambered to his feet and pitched out into the room. He came in violent contact with a living body, grappled and overpowered it, so that both fell back across a recliner near the window.

A stifled voice gasped almost in his ear, "Uncle Pom."

This, and the texture of what he glimpsed, immediately revealed his error to Mr. Penfold, but it was several moments before he could collect himself. Maia, who had struggled up, said composedly:

"enough. 'He's gone. Out of the window. O dear, did he hurt you, Uncle Pom?'"

"Not a bit," Mr. Penfold gasped. "He pounced on me and crammed me into the closet. What about yourself, Maia?"

"I'm not hurt. The sale youou he woke me flashing a light on my face. I thought for a moment it was you. Then he said, 'Keep still or somebody will get croaked.'"

"Croaked? He spoke English?"

"No, French. He said croque."

"O. I see. An apache or cambrioleur. Now that accounts for it."

"For what?"

"My being struck down on the shore and robbed."

"Robbed?" Maia echoed faintly. "Yes, I held that back, because I wanted to think it over. I was wearing a belt that contained some gems and money. This thief must have learned about it and followed me here. He thought I might have other jewels. I buy them sometimes, when I find a bargain."

"You must get back to bed, Uncle Pom. Are you sure you're not hurt?"

"He didn't strike me. Merely choked me a little. You had better call your father. We must telephone for the police."

"But, Uncle Pom."

"Well?"

"You may be wrong. Perhaps it wasn't a thief. I mean an ordinary thief."

"What then?"

"Capt. Seagrave must have guessed you were the man I am going to marry."

"Well, that's possible."

"He could be an ugly brute. Besides, he told me he was frightfully hard up. He is afraid his yacht may be libeled at Santander for bills he sailed without paying."

"I'm not surprised. But he couldn't possibly have known that I had recently bought these gems and had them on my person."

"No," Maia admitted, "but what if he had struck you down in a fit of jealousy, and then got frightened and looked to see if you had been killed? If he had opened your clothes or pulled them up to feel your heart, he'd have found the belt."

"That's true," Mr. Penfold had already considered this possibility. "But somehow I don't think it was Seagrave that grabbed me just now. It seemed like a shorter, broader man. But even if it was Seagrave, that doesn't keep it from being a job for the police."

Maia said slowly, "No, but there's something else, Uncle Pom. It's going to upset you, but I think you ought to know."

Ownership of Brick Is Council Problem

City Engineer Points to Clause in Commerce Street Contract Which Provides For Re-use of Materials by City.

WELLSVILLE, O., Sept. 18.—Verbally assailing city officials for taking bricks he had piled in front of his house and charging that two young men who had come to load the bricks in a truck had cursed him, Henry Ingram, Commerce street, last night demanded that council tell him who had legal right to the bricks that have been torn up during the progress of the Commerce street resurfacing project.

A section of bricks from Fifteenth street to Ninth street was torn up as the gas company installed a new main. Instead of relaying the bricks, the company filled in the ditch and cemented over the top of it to provide a smooth foundation for the amies.

Bricks Piled on Walk.

The bricks then were piled on the sidewalk. In a number of places, property owners used some of the bricks for walks and other purposes.

Ingram told council he, too, had piled up a quantity of the bricks in front of his house, intending to build a walk.

At 11 o'clock one night, according to his story, two young men came in a truck and began to load the brick, saying they were taking them to the Seventeenth street sewer. He told them he didn't want the brick removed. According to Ingram, the youths cursed him and said they would get police authority. They came back again at 2 a. m., Ingram said, with this authority and proceeded to load the brick.

According to City Engineer R. D. McGill, the city inserted a clause in the contract with Contractor G. B. Patterson to the effect that any materials of this nature would be re-used by the city.

This clause reads:

"The contractor will be required to lay aside as the property of the city any good material such as stone, brick, castings, etc., which may be encountered during the progress of this work and deposit them where the engineer may direct in a distance of one mile."

It has been the custom, the engineer says, to adhere to this form of contract everywhere.

It so happened, McGill pointed out, that the workmen on the sewer job needed brick badly at this particular time of night and it so happened the truck loaded Ingram's.

Ordinance prohibiting the erection of crossroads telephone poles in the city limits was read out.

Telephone company was granted permission to erect a pole near the Carnes property in the Lisbon road.

Auditor's report for the month showed the following balances:

General fund, $1,381.90; safety, $957.26; health, $1,066.65; service, $872.03; water, $2,244.66; cemetery, $1,701.86; library, $360.21; gasoline tax, $2,819.94; auto license, $3,459.76; firemen's indemnity, $332.06; cemetery trust, $560.22; Seventeenth street sewer, $55.17; sinking fund, $14,190.42.

Rug Values Revolutionized Silky Oriental Rug Luxury at American Rug Prices! $150

At this price you can now buy a 9 x 12 ft. American Rug that has the luxurious sheen and beauty of a true Oriental, and which makes over any room into a dream of beauty.

If the voice of thousands of America's luxury-loving families could speak to you above the city's din you would hear it say that a dream they have always had about rugs has come true.

Imagine that you returned home one day and saw upon the living-room floor what looked like a thousand dollar Persian Rug, lustrously shimmering . . . and then discovered the bill to be only $150.

That is what Gulistan de Luxe means.

That is the rug revolution.

Little wonder that great stores are proudly displaying Gulistan de Luxe in Art Gallery manner.

People exclaim—

"Look at that sheen, just look at it!"

"See how the colors seem to gleam and glance!"

"My living-room will hardly know itself . . . feel the weight of that!"

"There's the design we want!"

The rug revolution is now in full swing!

Stores and customers in dozens of cities are excited over this big and genuine permanent change in rug values.

They know that in the Orient the internationally famous House of Karagheusian has made for years great numbers of the world's most beautiful Oriental Rugs.

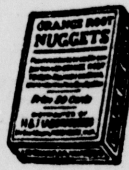

They know that in Karagheusian's American plants they have been trying for years to machine-loom American Rugs that would be truly as lustrous and luxurious as their Orientals.

And now they know that Karagheusian has done it.

Think of the facts. The seen is the same as that of a thousand dollar Kashan Rug, the same picked wools are especially imported from the Near East and China, the wearing-power exceeds that of popular-priced Oriental Rugs, and the fabric has been demonstrated by actual test in the "Times" Model Home at Hartford, Conn., to emerge revealing hardly any signs of wear, after 83,000 people had trod and retrodden it.

HASKIN LETTER DAILY

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 18.—What unquestionably will become the most famous aircraft beacon in the world is to be erected on a mountain peak 10,000 feet high in the Dominican Republic, according to plans which are bearing fruition. It will be the most famous in the world—and doubtless will hold that distinction for, perhaps, centuries because it will constitute a part of a memorial to Christopher Columbus.

William E. Pulliam, American receiver general of customs in the Dominican Republic, is author of the original plan for a memorial to the great discoverer. His work on the project began many years ago, but only now has the plan been revised to include the air beacon.

The bones of Columbus lie in the cathedral at Santo Domingo City which is on the island of Haiti and not far from San Salvador, the land which the navigator first sighted. The memorial project is one of tremendous proportions. The first plan was to erect at the port of Santo Domingo, an edifice which should be in part a lighthouse, in part a cathedral of splendid size and beautiful design and in part a museum to house Columbus relics. The lighthouse would appropriately symbolize the seafaring spirit of the discoverer and would have a present day utilitarian value in guiding ships to the harbor. The cathedral would be the framework for the tomb itself, would further symbolize Columbus' faith and would be regularly used as a place of worship. From every corner of the world would be collected for the museum relics pertaining to Columbus and his epoch-making voyages.

This plan will be adhered to but the additional adjunct of the air beacon now has been accepted. It would, of course, have been impractical to build a cathedral on the summit of a 10,000 foot high mountain. But, as the light in the lighthouse at the port below the shadow of the peak will protect the marine shipping, so the great beacon above will not only shine forth like a star marking the vicinity of Columbus' tomb, but will serve a very practical purpose.

Already an airline is in operation from the United States to Panama. Shorter lines operate between the West Indies. Very high mountains are a great menace to air navigation, to night flying, and to daylight flying in fog. Neon gas lights of tremendous power will be used because they have the faculty of penetrating fog. Moreover, a light at this height will be of great value to guide fliers on the darkest nights. The curvature of the earth is so sharp that a lighthouse near sea-level can be seen but a few miles away. Aircraft traveling 100 miles or more an hour, would reach such a light so swiftly that it would be passed almost as soon as glimpsed.

The story of the remains of Columbus is one of the most intensely romantic in history. Sixty or seventy years after he was entombed in the cathedral at Santo Domingo, Sir Francis Drake began scouring the seas, sinking every Spanish caravel and galleon he could sight, sending landing parties ashore and taking towns by storm and sacking every bit of Spanish treasure he could in the name of Queen Elizabeth and England because England and Spain were at war. The Spanish towns dwelt in terror of his approach.

Many years passed and the Columbus remains were shipped across the seas to Spain which country erected a splendid tomb and thereafter the world was given to know that the bones of the Discoverer of the whole western world reposed in the bosom of his homeland.

This splendid memorial will cost, it is estimated, from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 depending on the plan accepted. The site at the harborside of Santo Domingo City already has been acquired. The cost is to be divided among interested nations and allotted on a population basis. The share of the United States probably will run to $500,000. Each of the Latin American republics will add its quota. Then European nations which have possessions in this hemisphere will be invited to contribute. Great Britain will contribute largely on account of Canada as well as the British West Indies and British Guiana. France, on account of the French West Indies and French Guiana. Holland, on account of Dutch Guiana. A few years ago Denmark would have been included but as the United States bought the Danish West Indies (now the Virgin Islands) her western hemisphere interest is extinct. However, a suggestion is being considered to the effect that any nation in the world which desires to aid in honoring the man who brought a whole new world to the knowledge of the old nations, may make a contribution.

As far as the beads which are being worn these days indicate, Rosalie says that you can't tell whether you are coming or going. The idea is to have the same design and kind of a necklace in back as in front, and Rosalie's here are an example, as worn in the evening.

Another evening innovation is shown in the new fur trimmed velvet gowns, with tight fitting velvet knickers edged with fur, and which reach just below the edge of the gown.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Still another celebrated old district on the upper west side in the Sixties is about blotted out. San Juan Hill is now given over chiefly to manufacturing establishments and garages. For years it was a tenement hive for colored folk.

It was here many of New York's color prejudice flared up in bloody race riots. The battles were between husky young gangs from the gas house neighborhoods and dark-skinned neighbors. The derrick and the razor were implements of warfare.

There is still a Negro settlement there but most denizens trekked northward to Harlem. Those who remain are mostly hard working men and women who have lost the last for street fighting. A few dingy pool parlors and cat fish joints recall the old epoch.

Fifteen years ago San Juan Hill bristled with blacks. Cops roamed the district in pairs. Gambling halls, wide open saloons and brothels cluttered up every block. The intrusion of the white man after dark was a most dangerous experiment.

When cotton pickers from the southland amassed a stake they lit for San Juan Hill instead of Leona avenue. In those days the section specialized in 5 cent jolts of fiery gin. After a few of them many went berserk and raced through the streets waving knives.

Time after time newspaper front pages told of their capture by use of lassoes in the manner of wild steers. The "Hill" was also a nest of heroin and cocaine dives. Peddlers were in almost every doorway and white addicts clogged the street for surreptitious supplies.

Eventually San Juan Hill became New York's Barbary Coast and Committee of Fourteen and other civic investigators wrestled with the problem. It was the blooming of the Harlem Black Belt that eventually desolated it. The hovels were supplanted with big buildings. And San Juan joins the memories.

It was admitted when Helen Kane, the leading exponent of the baby-talk schtick of bel-canto, quit a masquerade hit on tour the company had to disband. Equity

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention is Worth a Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

There are many tests of baby's progress. Perhaps the surest one is the steady increase in weight.

Yet, after all, this is not an infallible sign of perfect health. The wrong sort of feeding may put on fat and make the baby a "bouncer." But health isn't all in the looks and weight. Such an infant may not be progressing in muscle and bone building. Its brain and nervous system may lack essential elements.

There is no single thing that may be accepted as proof conclusive of perfect health. Steady increase in height and weight are included in the group of good signs.

How the child sleeps is another way to determine that all is well. A young baby is asleep most of the twenty-four hours. With the exception of the feeding periods, a little time to stretch and kick, and a few minutes for crying, it is asleep.

Wadfulness, restlessness and peevishness, are not favorable symptoms. They indicate that something is wrong. If they continue, pretty soon loss of appetite will be noted. Then the normal gain in weight will stop.

Clearness and sweetness of the skin are other evidences of normal health. They will not be present if the waste materials of the body are not carried away as they should, but no offense is given or intended.

But later when a great friendship is established the partners at friendship begin to be touchy; there seems to be a fear of giving or taking—that it might offend. This is a reason given by certain ones for not having many good friends—intimate friends.

Acquaintances are more to be desired, because the spirit of indifference prevails rather than desire for favor, it is argued.

Don't be misled about friendship.

Once Over

By J. J. Mundy.

When Friends Are "Touchy."

Have you ever noticed how much better friends certain persons seem to be in an early friendship?

Neither is demanding anything of the other. Each is putting the best foot forward. Or possibly there is a spirit of give and take which admits of witty exchanges in which one touches up the other rather sharply, but no offense is given or intended.

Delay on the Mountain.

If the Confederate States had dalled during the Civil war to the extent that the modern south has procrastinated in creating a national Confederate Memorial at Stone Mountain, Georgia, her armies never could have won world renown for dash and daring.

For fifteen years the south has been attempting to carve out of the great mountain overlooking Atlanta a figure of Gen. Lee and his generals, of heroic proportions and of overwhelming grandeur. It was an undertaking that caught the imagination of the American people.

But petty strife has delayed the project indefinitely. Shortly after he had begun to carve out the figure of Gen. Lee on his famous horse, Traveler, the sculptor, Gutzon Borglum, was discharged by the Stone Mountain association and Augustus Lukeman employed to finish the task.

Now Sampel H. Venable, who deeded the site of the memorial to the Stone Mountain association on condition that the monument be finished in fifteen years, threatens to abrogate his offer. He says Lukeman's likeness of Gen. Lee "looks about as much like him as a western farmer." He severely criticizes the association for delay and extravagance.

Added to the troubles over a suitable sculptor, four separate injunction suits have prevented the city of Atlanta and Fulton county from expending approximately $400,000 of appropriated funds on the memorial.

Stone Mountain coins were sold all over the south to raise money to create this memorial. The southern people contributed in good faith that the project would be completed. Delay has been their only answer. The memorial association has a duty, first to the whole nation, to end the present delay and finish the memorial.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens, and in love with a boy a few years my senior. He and I have been going together three months, and out of the three months, he has not called at my home but twice. He says he loves me. My parents seem to like him for he is a nice boy and he does not associate with bad boys. Please advise me.

WORRIED: If you have seen this boy so infrequently, you certainly do not know him well enough to talk of love. Talking of love to you under these circumstances seems a bit absurd, doesn't it? Although you do not state your age, I have an idea you are too young to be thinking of such serious things.

Aside from eliminating the love quality, the only thing you can do is to be gracious and friendly to him when he calls, just as a hostess always is to her guests. If he really cares for you, he will arrange to see you more frequently.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I am in no deep trouble and I have not got the least little worry, but still I am not satisfied with life and feel as though it is not worth living.

What I would like you to tell me is this: Where can I meet the kind of people that I would like to mix with? I mean the male sex. I have very sweet girl friends and make friends very easily. I do not wish to appear conceited, but I will tell you a few things about myself. I am short, but have a very attractive face, pleasing personality, dress fairly well, seventeen years old.

I work in a cotton factory where I meet boys who earn very little money and are always "broke." These boys all like me but they thoroughly disgust me because they fail so easily and are so easy to get. What I would like to meet are people who do not have to worry so much over money. I am not a snob. I realize that I, too am only a poor working girl, and though I do not care for the boys that ask me out I treat them politely and often accept their invitations. Please tell me where to go and what to do in order to meet the right people. DREAMER.

DREAMER: It is quite a natural ambition for you to want friends that will be thoroughly compatible to you. I believe your present unhappiness lies in the fact that you want to learn more about the things that do make life worth living. You are young and should realize that by reading and improving your mind you will have more to offer the new friends you want to meet.

Attend some of the social gatherings planned for young people by the members of your church. If you have not been in the habit of attending church you would find this a delightful wholesome atmosphere for making new acquaintances. Then there must be an athletic association that you could join, one of the swimming or gymnasium classes offered by the Y. W. C. A. You would then be eligible to attend their social functions.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: 1. Do you think girls at sixteen are too young to go with boys? 2. When someone winks at you, which eye should you wink back with, or doesn't it matter? 3. What do you think of a boy who can't keep anything to himself, but tells it? 4. Is it proper for a girl to wear a man's wrist watch for any length of time? KITTY.

KITTY: 1. The age at which a girl is permitted to go out with young men is determined by her parents. You should abide by their judgment in this matter.

2. You are placing entirely too much importance on this undignified gesture. Among friends who are well acquainted, a roguish wink is sometimes used to signify mutual enjoyment of a clever witicism or good humored bit of fun. A wink used in any other connection is vulgar.

3. Apparently you have formed your own opinion of such a young man and realize that he is forming a dangerous, disagreeable trait at a very early age. If he doesn't curb this tendency, he will soon be known as a person who cannot be trusted.

4. Wearing a man's jewelry at any time is bad form.

More than $1,500,000 worth of radio apparatus was sent from the United States to Argentina last year.

Sales Appeal

Shaving brushes costing $100 are not found in the tongsorial equipment of the average man. Neither does milady, generally speaking, go in for compacts retailing at $30 or more. Yet there is a demand for such expensive luxuries, and they are for sale, a drug store trade magazine remarks, in some of the more exclusive drug stores and shops in various parts of the country.

Such articles make their appeal, of course, only to a limited class of buyers. They are never advertised, and they are kept on hand to accommodate the prosperous American to whom price means nothing if he is sure that he is receiving the best that the market offers. He demands quality merchandise and is willing to pay for it.

It is not strange, therefore, that clever men and women who produce the nation's goods, should profit by the peculiar purchasing whims of the man of means who must have quality in everything he buys, and that attitude also is characteristically American. Take for instance the shaving brush which is bought usually for utilitarian purposes only. If a wealthy customer suggests a yearning for a brush with an ivory handle made up of individually selected badger hairs, some shrewd merchant is going to supply it at a profit to himself.

Fortunately the nation's prosperity does not depend on this class of restricted buying. There are millions of customers thronging our stores and shops every day who keep the wheels of industry going by their tremendous buying power. They, too, are looking for quality, but they want it in a reasonable degree and at a reasonable price. And this, after all, is the theory of retail trading that has given America world leadership in the merchandising field.

GRETA GARBO ON STATE BILL

Film fans who have been waiting breathlessly for another picture with Greta Garbo and Nils Asther romantically paired should be repaid in "The Single Standard," which opens at the State theater tomorrow as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newest offering, a highly romantic tale with musical and sound synchronization. This filmization of the sensational Adela Rogers St. John novel is the first appearance of either Miss Garbo or Asther since they scored so profoundly in "Wild Orchids" and it is a happy choice that brings them back before their world of admirers in the same picture.

Screened considerably at sea, aboard a picturesque windjammer, the feature has many novel and charming departures from the conventional and the underwater love scenes in the submarine gardens are not only intriguing to the imagination but quite thrilling as well. The story concerns a tempestuous San Francisco society girl who is sickened by the world of pretense in which she finds herself, defies conventions by running away on a South Sea yachting trip with an adventurous artist-fighter-and-sailor, Packy Cannon, who accepts her love cheaply at first, but succumbs to deeper emotions when he returns home, married and the mother of a baby in later years, she still loves her roving sweetheart but resists the urge to return to his arms when she feels her boy's chubby hands tugging at her heart-strings. Included in the supporting cast of the new Garbo feature are Dorothy Sebastian, Robert Castle, Kathlyn Williams, Lane Chandler and others of note.

TUNEFUL HIT COMING SEPT. 25

Although modern in its plot, music and dancing, "Rio Rita" which comes to the Ceramic theater. Wednesday night, Sept. 25, takes one back to the days of other outstanding song and dance successes, notably, "The Merry Widow," "The Chocolate Soldier," and "The Prince of Pilsen." Such musical comedies contained all of the elements which form a large and lively evening in the theater. "Rio Rita" unquestionably brings music as tuneful as any of her predecessors, and certainly contains dancing of as many or more types. "Rio Rita" must be considered as an original musical comedy in the strictest sense, for the story was written concurrently with the music and adapted from a former dramatic stage success as many recent musical plays have been. For two years "Rio Rita" played to continuously crowded houses on Broadway, during which time its many song hits were whistled and sung almost around the globe. The months appear not to have dimmed the luster of these numerous tunes, and the large cast which certainly interprets this musical romance is said to do the fullest justice to the score, for much attention, it is understood, has been given to the selection of real singing voices. Among these will be found Arthur Rogers, the sterling tenor, last heard in "My Maryland," Sonia de Calve, prima donna from London, June Blane from "The Student Prince," Emil Lewis, Ina Leeland, William Sunderman, and many others from the light opera stage. A large orchestra is required to properly play the musical score of "Rio Rita" and in every city visited a host of musicians is added to the regular orchestra, and in addition to the special orchestra carried with the company.

"Matured Figures Slenderized"

PATTERN 1659 The Review 15c Practical Pattern

The woman who is not slender must choose length giving lines in order to slenderize her appearance. Design 1659 does this through the long pointed vestee and rever on the bodice, and through the pointed yoke of the pleated skirt.

Dark grounds are extremely smart this season, with very tiny, bright colored designs printed on them. Plain colors, too, are much in evidence. We suggest silk crepe, satin or velvet for the development of Design 1659. Seasonal colors are brown, bottle green, black and navy blue.

May be obtained only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48.

Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material and 1 yard trimming.

This model is easy to make. No dressmaking experience is necessary. Each pattern comes to you with simple and exact instructions, including yardage for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

THE FASHION BOOK IS FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to The Review Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York City.

She has learned how to keep clothes new looking twice as long

(the same way the movies do)

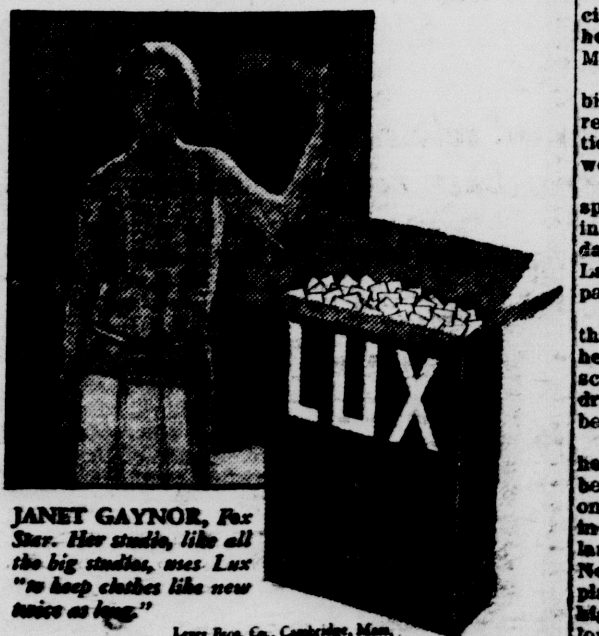

"I DO have more pretty clothes now, though I don't spend any more than I used to. The reason is, I've discovered how to keep everything I wear like new so much longer. Instead of spending all my money just to replace things that look old and shabby too quickly, now I can buy extra clothes."

"I learned the secret by reading about the movies—how they keep screen clothes just like new twice as long by always washing them in Lux. Since then, I've used Lux for all my things—stockings, undies, gloves, sweaters, dresses."

"It's perfectly marvelous what a difference this makes. All my clothes look like new so much longer. Now, I don't have to spend every cent just replacing worn-outs. I can afford luxuries."

You, too, can have the same wonderful results with Lux... keep all your clothes new looking for, far longer...

Then your clothes money won't all go into replacing worn-outs—you can afford so many extra nice things.

125 OHIO MINERS WALK OUT IN UNION SCALE DEMAND

ROSWELL MEN ALSO ASK MULE USE IN MINE

Lee Hall, State Leader, Organizes Strikers.
SILENT ON MOVE
Hint First Step in State-wide Movement.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Asking for restoration of the 1917 union wage scale, 125 miners today had walked out of the diggings of the H. R. Brown and Son Mining company at Roswell, five miles east of here.
The "strikers" are being organized by Lee Hall, president of the Ohio district of the United Mine Workers of America.
The miners also asked that mules be substituted for man-power in pushing small coal cars from the shaft mine. A greatly diminished force is still working at the mine, it is reported.
Though high union officials would not discuss the "walkout," unconfirmed rumors stated that this may be the first step in the reorganization of the union in Ohio, which was demoralized by events following the 1927 strike.

500 HOMELESS IN FIRE ZONE

Three Persons Missing in Forests Blaze.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—With three persons missing, another near death and 500 homeless, forest fires which already have caused a property loss of $2,000,000 continued unchecked today.
Continued dry weather was threatening increased damage in Ventura county where flames swept through an oil field and destroyed the homes of 500 oil workers. The flames continue to threaten Santa Paula, numerous other towns and several of the richest southern California oil towns.
A heat wave which has hung over the southern part of California for a few days has seriously handicapped the fire-fighting crews. Six of the fire fighters have been prostrated from the heat.
New blazes were spreading through Orange county, sweeping down Santa Ana canyon, threatening citrus groves, farms and villages of Orange and Brea.
Ranch buildings, a summer resort in Goose valley and thousands of dollars in crops were destroyed by a forest and brush fire in San Diego county. The blaze was still out of control early today.
Santa Barbara is endangered by another uncontrolled fire in the Santa Barbara national forest which was slowly working its way toward the city.
A heavy pall of smoke hangs over Los Angeles like a dense blanket of fog.

Heavy Property Toll Exact.
SEATTLE, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Ever-spreading flames continued today to creep through the forests of the northwest, taking a heavy toll of property.
Fire crept into the town of Yakolt, Wash., and destroyed six farms, a power plant, school and rock crusher before it was driven back. A lumber camp, trains and roundhouses in the Tumtum district were reported destroyed.
A long fight saved Stevenson, Wash., the conflagration sweeping around the town and on into the forest. Backfiring is thought to have saved Estacada, Ore.
Nine major fires were reported raging in Washington this morning.

"IT'S YOUR ROAD; NOW GO AND RUN IT," 40-YEAR-OLD CHIEF TOLD

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Youth stepped forward in the railroad world again today when Robert J. Bowman, 40, took over the reins of the Pere Marquette railroad as operating vice president of the line. He becomes one of the youngest men in the world to hold such a position.
Upon his election by the board of directors at their meeting here last yesterday, the youthful vice president who was once a telegrapher, was reported to have been given only one terse bit of advice by J. J. Berner, president of the Chesapeake & Ohio. It was:
"It's your road. Now go and run it."
Bowman was born in Findlay, O. His first railroad job was with the Nickel Plate road as a freight clerk. Since then he has been connected with railroads in various capacities. In 1914 he went to Fort Wayne, Ind., in the superintendent's office. From there he was transferred to Cleveland where he has remained since as one of "Berner's boys."

THE president announces the appointment of Harry F. Guggenheim as ambassador to Cuba.
Cubans will welcome Mr. Guggenheim, representing an able and powerful American family well.
Americans will be glad to hear that Mr. Guggenheim's work for aviation in America is conspicuously recognized.

In addition to his own constant flying and working in the interest of aviation, Mr. Guggenheim has spent hundreds of thousands encouraging better airplane building and entirely apart from any possibility of financial profit.

A MOST important government experiment in aviation is the building of an all-metal dirigible, the ZMC-2.
That ship, contemptuously called a "tin bubble" by those with little imagination, was built by Congress after so-called "experts" in the army and navy had vetoed the project.

THE "tin bubble," having flown half way across the country to Lakehurst on its trial trip, flew over New York Monday.
All-metal dirigibles are safe from lightning, according to expert opinion. They weight less than dirigibles of cloth, containing many separate bags. And it is alleged that properly constructed they will make leaks impossible and the use of hydrogen gas safe.
Our government needs a separate aviation department that would not oppose new ideas.

COOPER VISITS WHITE HOUSE

Governor Plays Volleyball With President.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—After playing volleyball with President Herbert Hoover on the White House lawn and enjoying a private exhibition of Movietone reels in the White House, Governor Myers Y. Cooper returned to his desk at the state house here today.
Accompanied by his wife, the governor spent Monday night in the White House.
"We had a fine time and enjoyed every minute of our stay," Cooper told newspaper men here today.

Although the visit was of a social nature, the governor discussed political and economic questions of national and international importance.
The president Hoover told Ohioans believe in him and his policies and were determined to uphold him in the conduct of his great office," said the governor.
U. S. Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, also was a house guest at the White House during the visit of Governor and Mrs. Cooper.

From the White House, Governor Cooper telephoned the residence of U. S. Senator Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, who has been ill with stomach trouble. The governor was informed that Senator Burton was "resting well" and was dictating his mail.

PEACOCK INSANE, DEFENSE SAYS

COURT HOUSE, White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—Dorothy Heinzelman Peacock, slain "mad-cap" bride of twenty, drove her young husband, Earle Francis Peacock, insane by her gay conduct in New York while they were separated, Defense Attorney Sidney A. Syme declared in his opening address to the jury today at the trial of Peacock for murder in the first degree.
"She was running around with other men and he simply couldn't stand it," Syme told the "blue ribbon" jury.
Peacock was "legally insane" when he killed his wife on the night of April 21 last, the first anniversary of their marriage, Syme said. In fact, he would show, the lawyer added, that Peacock was a victim of "hereditary insanity."

WORMS RUIN APPLE CROP

WENATCHEE, Wash.—Apple growers of the Wenatchee district will pay a "worm bill" of some $4,000,000 this year, according to R. Edward Trumble, horticulturist, who claims the worm pest to be the worst in 25 years.
Trumble predicts the 1929 apple crop will be reduced 20 per cent in this region and that the loss will have a vital effect on the apple market.
During the past quarter century, Trumble estimates growers have lost $51,000,000 to the boring pest. High winds during the spraying season and an especially favorable year for the development of a second brood of worms was held in Canton for more than 65 years, responsible.

SALEM, O., Sept. 18.—(INS.)—An intensive search was started here today for Earl Ritchie, Perry township constable and candidate for mayor in the August primaries, who tricked an officer and escaped after he had been arrested for non-payment of a four-year-old fine of $200 for transporting liquor.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

By W. S. COUSINS, I. N. S. Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Morgan and Drexel group of utility stocks led the market in a moderate upturn of prices this morning. Outside of these favorites the most important incident was the 3 1/2 point jump of American Tel and Tel to 303, a point under the high price of the year.
The call money renewal rate was marked up to 9 per cent against yesterday's 7 1/2 per cent opening rate, showing the effects of the government's mid-month financing. Heavy withdrawals of money for the "country" points are expected between now and the end of the month, precluding the prospect of any great easing up of the money market in that period.
Public Service of New Jersey sold up four points at 133 1/2; United Gas Improvement up a point at 53 1/2 and United Corporation fractionally higher on reports of a gigantic hooking up of these properties, under the direction of the Morgan bankers. The same group has recently acquired valuable power sites on the St. Lawrence river, using as their lever the Niagara Hudson Power company and incurring the condemnation of the New York state governor as well as powerful senators at Washington.

Other Methods Failed—
Owa-Ton-Na Brings Results

Nervousness and Indigestion Respond to This Natural Remedy.

J. C. Clutter, Klondike, East
Liverpool, Ohio, relates his experience with the use of this fine old remedy. He says: "For the 25 years I have had no end trouble with my stomach and nerves. Constipation added to suffering and proved equally obstinate in responding to treatment. You can easily understand I am enthusiastic about this In-remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, when it is first thing what has really done good in all these years. I was ing pretty well run down generally when I learned about Owa-Na, and what a happy day it was for me when this remedy did to give me results."
From the first bottle I note that the medicine was me good. Gradually headaches and indigestion
Food started to taste better today I can eat almost anything I want without suffering afflicts. My kidneys are acting as well as my bowels. I am strong and that tired, out feeling is gone. Owa-
Na is a wonderful medicine.
I gladly recommend it to anyone who suffers from stomach and nervousness."

The Gulbransen precision-built radio makes such a condition obsolete. The use of a double primary circuit, the painstaking manufacture and assembly of every Gulbransen part, the infinite tests which every Gulbransen must pass—have opened up to Gulbransen owners an amazing new field of radio enjoyment. At the dial of your Gulbransen, you may bring in with rich responsive volume, stations at any point on the dial.

The Gulbransen separates each station—it has been given a new degree of selectivity and sensitivity. The use of the screen grid principle, power detection and push-pull amplification make possible a smooth, lovely, humless tone—a remarkable performance. But Gulbransen does not stop there—absolute unvarying standards of precision make the Gulbransen unique among radios—an instrument created with fine care to furnish an entirely new kind of radio pleasure.

CUBS MUFF TWO CHANCES TO SEW UP FLAG

Chicago Cheering Delayed

Bucs Virtually Certain Of Second Place Money.

By Davis J. Walsh.
NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—For a club that had the pennant won three weeks ago, the Chicago Cubs seem to be having a night jolly time in keeping it won. As long ago as last Saturday, the thing was conceded to be only a courtesy gesture, like a guest card for any of the out of town elevator starters, but today the Cubs are still that remarkably long mathematical inch away. They had two chances at it yesterday and missed both so badly that the wind blew down an old beer sign the residents of Cicero had been saving for the Smithsonian institute.

In any case, courtesy seems to be running for its life, the team, as far as the rest of the National League is concerned. It was possible, for example, for the Cubs to win the pennant officially on Saturday. All they had to do was beat the Phillies by one run. But the Cubs didn't play because of rain, so the business went over to Sunday, with the following results.

And Again a Delay.

On Monday, the program was varied but the result remained the same. This time the Pirates won two and the Cubs didn't play because of rain. Yesterday, it didn't seem possible that anything could further delay the tour of triumph. The Pirates had a single game, with the Phillies, which they might have lost, whereas the Cubs had two with the Dodgers, who had won only four starts in 20 with Chicago over the stretch of the season. It looked, indeed, like form letter "A" in the series, entitled success by postage, but it must have been Valentine day to the letter carrier. Anyhow, the Pirates won again and the Cubs blew both starts, even after over-taking a six-run deficit in the first game and another of five runs in the second.

Benny Vance, the lad who usually has them licked simply by starting at them in a very marked manner, was chased out of there while the Cubs were taking a 7 to 6 lead in the opener. Yet they couldn't win. Then they sent their ace, Guy Bush, after the second game and all he got was the exercise, a homer by Bissontek staking the Dodgers to a four-run lead in the fourth and another by Herman in the eighth. Carlson, blown off the premises in the opener, was the victim of this latter atrocity, giving him a perfect average on the day—two starts, two stops.

Bucs Clinch Second Place.
The Cubs may be able to lose the pennant, but they won't—not with Joseph McCarthy ready to convince them. Joseph, they say, has quite a convincing which dangles in a very handy fashion from his right shoulder, that is, it dangles whenever he isn't using it.

Barring the Chicago affair, business was far from brisk yesterday. The Pirates pulled five full games away from the Giants and practically clinched second place and the Dodgers stretched their lead to two games over the Phillies in the battle for the head of the second division.

The rest of them took a breather as did most of the American League. However, Washington tightened up the race for fifth place by taking the Tigers in the first game, leaving the Senators only a half game away. They also were taking the second game, but rain broke against them with a 3 to 0 lead in the third inning.

The Red Sox beat the White Sox but still are five games in the cellar, provided anybody is interested.

NO 18-DAY DIET IS NEEDED HERE

DAYTON, O., Sept. 18.—The 18-day Hollywood diet is passe. Dick Frankenstein, the hefty tackle on the University of Dayton football squad, has found a more efficient way of losing weight.

Dick weighed 230 pounds at the first football practice two days ago. Today, the player tipped the scales at 205 pounds, having lost 25 pounds of flesh during two days' workouts.

This weight losing exercise cannot be recommended to Hollywood actors and actresses, however.

DOUBLE A RACE NEAR WIND-UP

Pennant Virtually Sewed by Kansas City.

The point has been reached where the interest in baseball is fading, especially in Ohio. Except for a big spurge during the world series, the noise and ballyhoo is about done, and things have come to even a worse pass in the American association pennant race.

The fight in the double "A" has apparently become unsprited. Unless the impossible happens, Kansas City will take the association pennant.

Columbus, which showed more vim this year than during the past two or three, is the only team upon which the Buckeye state can pin its hopes of having a nine finish in the first division. According to the outlook, the Senators are a promising bunch of rookies and maybe they will do great deeds in next year's race.

Two upsets featured the games yesterday. Milwaukee, which is in last place, beat the fourth-position team of Indianapolis by a 5 to 3 score and Toledo took a 6 to 4 win from Minneapolis. Minneapolis is third and will probably still be there when the last ball is twirled and the last put-out made.

Milwaukee is last and it has a chance to finish a notch higher. The Mudhens are seventh and likely to stay there to the finish, unless they slip into the cellar. They can't go higher and there is only one step lower.

St. Paul took a 12 to 4 decision from Columbus yesterday and Kansas City annexed its games with Louisville by a 6 to 1 score.

The fourth, fifth and sixth positions represent a muddle, which can be seen from the standings, which follow:

Team. W L Pct.
Kansas City..... 101 51 667
St. Paul..... 92 60 605
Minneapolis..... 81 72 530
Indianapolis..... 71 82 477
Louisville..... 71 82 477
Columbus..... 70 83 458
Toledo..... 61 92 414
Milwaukee..... 61 92 399

Games today are: Columbus at St. Paul; Toledo at Minneapolis; Indianapolis at Milwaukee and Louisville at Kansas City.

Fight Results

AT COLUMBUS, O. — Jimmy Clay, Newark, O., won decision over George Boychan, Newark, (10).

AT LOS ANGELES — Eddie Mack, Denver, whipped Goldie Hess in a ten round decision.

RIFLE SHARKS HAVE BIG NIGHT

East Liverpool-Wellsville Rifle Club members were distinctly "on" in their recent shoot at Wellsville, no less than eight breaking 150.

Phelan Drills Sophs.
LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 18.—The sophomore delegation took up most of Jimmy Phelan's time yesterday afternoon behind the canvas walls where a Purdue football team is being developed. The biggest problem facing the Purdue coach is the development of a strong line.

Indianians Pep Up.
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 18.—Cooler weather than that served on the opening day of practice put a lot of ginger in the Indian university gridmen on their second workout of the season in the stadium.

Kipke Names First Squad.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 18.—Coach Harry Kipke yesterday virtually disclosed a secret that has intrigued Michigan followers since last fall when he named eleven men to comprise the first team in signal practice. Only one new face was present in the lineup, that of Tom Roach, Grand Rapids, tackle.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 18.—Coach Bill Roper will today continue experimenting with the large squad that answered Princeton's early football call, in an attempt to sort out the men for positions best suited them. Yesterday's showers failed to halt the Tigers, Roper putting them through a 90 minute drill.

Quarterback Job in Doubt.
NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The most important position in the Columbia football team, that of quarterback, is still in doubt with but little more than a week remaining before the first game. A merry battle for the signal calling job is being waged by Phil Lifflander and Charley Joyce.

Violets Flourish in Mud.
FARMINGDALE, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Coach Chick Meehan today was almost convinced that his N. Y. U. Violets are not good "mudders." For yesterday's scrimmage on a wet field found the varsity able to do very little with the scrubs. Herman Lamark, soph back, was the only varsity ball carrier who was good for consistent gains.

53 in Wisconsin Squad.
MADISON, Wis., Sept. 18.—The return of Lewis Smith, veteran end, yesterday rounded out the Wisconsin varsity squad with fifty-three players in uniform for the afternoon drill which consisted of dummy scrimmage and fundamental drills.

That's Biggest Grain Of Comfort Midway Grid Followers Have This Season.

DOUBLE A RACE NEAR WIND-UP

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—"Well, whatever happens, things can't be as bad as they were last year." And with this small grain of comfort followers of the Chicago football team are looking hopefully toward the midway, where Coach A. Stagg is engaged—in his thirty-eighth season—trying to whip a conference contender out of a group smaller than the average local high school squad.

Fifty-two men, by liberal count, are available for the veteran coach and his staff to do with as they can. Six of them, if no more drop out of school or become ineligible before this edition goes to press, are players who won their letters on last year's team.

The rest are recruited from here and there—mainly from the freshman eleven of last year, which was hardly more than an eleven when the season came to a close.

But are we downhearted? Nay, out of worse prospects than these has many a championship contender been built, and even the most pessimistic midway follower feels that with an even break in luck and a smaller casualty list than last season, the team may actually get some place in the Big Ten.

"We will have a small group," is the conservative manner in which Coach Stagg puts it. "We will have only a few veterans, and no previous indications of brilliance, but I have considerable hope for this squad."

"I expect that a number of the new men will display eagerness and enthusiasm, for there is a good chance for any one to get on the team. Last year an unprecedented series of disasters broke our morale."

"With a new group, I think interest and enthusiasm will go a long way toward making up for lack of both skill and experience."

Capt. Pat Kelly, naturally, leads the six lettermen around whom the team will probably be built. Pat is an end, and a good one.

Howard Jersild, another end, probably will fill in at the other flank. Wayne Cassie and Charles Weaver, guards, and Forrest Proberg and Clarence Cushman, tackles, complete the veterans' roster.

Even this number may be depleted, for there is doubt whether Cassie will return to college because of the death of his father.

It was expected that Hugh Mendhall, only a veteran from last season's backfield, would be among those present, but Hugh flunked out and probably will be ineligible for the rest of the year. That leaves exactly zero in experienced backs.

However, the Alumni squad that bucked the schoolboys last night can not be classified as a bunch of pushovers for any school team. Glenn Mackall, backfield star on last year's high eleven, was backing up the line and creating no small amount of havoc. The graduates, in all, presented a strong front.

If there is any more scrimmaging the rest of the week, it will be light. The squad, physically, is in pretty good shape to start the season and Zook has no desire to start a hospital list with the Canton contest looming.

Yale to Mix 'Em Up.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18.—Yale teams will use both the huddle and the signal system in this year's gridiron campaign. Head Coach Mal Stevens has announced. Eli teams of recent years have used the huddle system exclusively.

Zookmen Battle Alumni

Blue Mentor Dissatisfied With Showing Of Squad.

WITH automobiles jammed in to all available parking space about the lot and the sidelines thronged two and three deep, Patterson Field last night provided all the aspects of a big game scene as Coach Earl Zook's high school youngsters lined up against Alumni for a scrimmage.

After something like an hour's workout, the Blue and White mentor left the field in a disappointed frame of mind.

Zook used several combinations against the Alumni delegation including what might be termed, at the present time, the second and third string candidates against whom the graduates registered a couple of touchdowns.

His first string combine slipped over a six-point against the former high school stars during the course of action although the principal object, on either side, was not a scoring contest.

Zook was dissatisfied especially with the performance of the line which failed to hold and crumpled repeatedly under the onslaught of the graduates, permitting the opposing players to crush plays before they were fairly well started. And on the defense the school line did not show the dash and energy in their charging that Zook desires.

As a result of the scrimmage, there will be a number of changes in the lineups in tonight's workout while the starting squad for Saturday's game with Canton McKinley is very, very questionable at the present time.

Zook has found it a task in ascertaining the ability of each and every one of the large number of candidates in the short space of time he has been acquainted with them.

Another week, possibly, and the outlook against an eleven of the caliber of the Stark counties would have been brighter. But there is no other week and as a result, the Blue and White coach will concentrate as much energy as possible in the last few days before the opening conflict.

However, the Alumni squad that bucked the schoolboys last night can not be classified as a bunch of pushovers for any school team. Glenn Mackall, backfield star on last year's high eleven, was backing up the line and creating no small amount of havoc. The graduates, in all, presented a strong front.

FISH AND GAME UNIT TO MEET

Meeting of the East Liverpool branch of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association will be held tomorrow night in the organization's rooms in the Ingram building.

Reports of the recent meeting of the county governing board at Lisbon will be submitted by officers who attended the session.

SOFTBALL FOES CLASH TONIGHT

The second softball championship series will be staged tonight at the Newell grounds, if old "Juke Thrust" will be so obliging. The third two scheduled encounters were called off on account of rain.

A victory for Smith News will end it all, as the dependant lower says, as the Newell hold the edge by virtue of their win over the Newell Service Station clubbers last week. The third game, if necessary, will be staged at Columbus Park Thursday or Friday night, as determined by the rival managers.

The pitchers held the upper hand in the evening game, the strong News aggregation being held to two hits by Timberlake, scoring the only run of the session on error. Johnny Greene did not do so badly either, as the Newell boys, no slouches with the willow, succeeded in clubbing out but four safeties.

FIELDS-JONES BOUT CALLED OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Because of infection in Fields' left arm, a bout scheduled for Monday night between Jackie Fields and Gorilla Jones has been indefinitely postponed.

Fields' arm started bothering him following his Sunday training. It was to be lanced today and his physician said he would be unable to box for at least two weeks.

FIELDS-JONES BOUT CALLED OFF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Because of infection in Fields' left arm, a bout scheduled for Monday night between Jackie Fields and Gorilla Jones has been indefinitely postponed.

Fields' arm started bothering him following his Sunday training. It was to be lanced today and his physician said he would be unable to box for at least two weeks.

Foutts Planning Boxing Shows Again This Winter

Present Junction Track Matchmaker to Resume at Wellsville Next Month.

MATCHMAKER RAY FOUTTS of the Valley A. C. Wellsville, which operated very successfully last year considering the fact that most of the club's clientele was out-of-town, patronage, today announced that he will promote fights in the Wellsville arena again this fall and winter.

Foutts has been matchmaking for the Junction City Amusement company, operating outdoor shows at Junction park, New Brighton, Pa., this summer and, despite the fact that the club was breaking in to the fight game for the first time, has been successful financially.

Next Thursday's show, billing Young Jack Dempsey, second, and Harold Scarney, heavyweights, the first of this weight classification, by the way, to appear in the Junction park ring this summer, will be the last outdoor show of the present season at the race track.

After that it is possible the club will attempt indoor shows, although no definite steps have been taken in this direction yet.

Foutts, however, where he can be constantly near the scene of operations, although, at that, he could fill the matchmaking role at both places if he desired to devote that much time to it.

However, he appears to have decided definitely on resuming again at Wellsville, declaring that he is already figuring on his opening scrap around the middle of October.

Eagles' club, which has promoted boxing bouts here for a number of years, has made no announcement yet of its plans for the coming indoor season, although there has been some discussion among members.

In the opinion of many boxing followers here, it is very possible to find some way of combining forces so they could operate an one unit, instead of two, competition would be eliminated, the promoters would get more for their efforts and would be able, probably, to produce better bouts.

Fight promotion, on the small scale necessary in places of this size, can not be conducted in an extravagant style. Profits are small, if any. The worry and fuss in matching good fighters at reasonable prices is considerable and district clubs really should be commended for what they have done along these lines in the past.

And another item is lack of a commission. This handicap compels a matchmaker to take a steep chance every time he books a fighter. If the pug decides that he doesn't care to go through with a bout here, he can stay at home and the promoters are powerless to do anything about it except, if they so desire, blacklist that boxer so far as future bouts here are concerned.

Of course, this type of boxer is not common, but nevertheless the possibility always exists.

The district is becoming fairly well populated with boxers. Eddie Lyons, flyweight, who appears in one of the preliminary bouts on the Junction park program tomorrow night, is a resident of this city now. He comes from Coshocton. His father is a potter and is now employed in one of the local plants.

Loos is reported to have considerable ability and in the event boxing is resumed in the district this winter, he will be given plenty of opportunity to display his wares.

Freddy Edwards, Chester welter.

Boxer Forgets To Don Trunks

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Johnny Bonito, Yonkers bantam, may never scale the boxing heights but he has the satisfaction today of knowing that once in his life he "panicked" the customers at Madison Square Garden.

Johnny's act that "rolled them in the aisles" came last night when he stepped into the ring for a bout in the amateur affairs that are now in

CLEAN KITCHEN WOMAN'S WISH

In the last few years, color has assumed a most important place in the decoration of the home from shingles to basement, from spare bedroom to breakfast nook. Even the up-to-date kitchen is as gay and colorful as any room in the house but—don't overlook convenience.

First of all, the home-maker wants a clean and immaculate kitchen. But no matter how much pride she takes in its cleanliness the necessary labor of scrubbing and polishing won't make her particularly enthusiastic! So—after an efficient layout of the equipment, the kitchen should be made "easy to keep clean."

Linoleum may be preferred for the floor instead of tile because it is softer to the feet. To preserve linoleum, it should be waxed occasionally. Then it will last for years. Tile and linoleum floors are easy to keep clean.

If you are planning to build a home with a tiled kitchen by all means plan a tile-lined alcove for the stove with a vent at the top to carry off the steam and odors of cooking food. If you plan a tiled alcove for the stove don't decide on the color of tile until you have decided on your stove.

Cookery experts agree that nothing in the line of cooking equipment excels the modern gas range with oven heat regulator.

The modern gas range usually has all-enamel finish, plain white or in color. One of the latest offerings is a chrome-plated stove that never loses its mirror-like luster. Then there is another model with a most convenient "Elastic" oven, in which the broiler and oven compartment can be easily and quickly made into one for the cooking of an unusually big meal. Other modern gas ranges have insulated ovens while yet others have barbecue type broilers.

Recently an utterly new and different type of gas range has been announced by a leading manufacturer. Made in all-enamel, the front and top are of attractive marble-like finish with Old Ivory trim. The cooking top can be completely concealed. This new stove resembles a fine piece of period furniture for the drawing room. Handsome handles of onyx-green bakelite embellish the oven and broiler doors. It is said that the man responsible for the beautiful design of this range is the head of a nationally-known art school and art critics say that this is one of the finest examples of the modern metal worker's art ever produced.

SOVIET PLANES ATTACK BRIDGE

HARBIN, Manchuria, Sept. 18.—(INS)—Soviet Russian airplanes tried unsuccessfully to bomb the Motan river bridge in the region of Mulin, said an official Chinese military communique.

The Soviets, according to this statement, are enrolling Mongols into the Red army and already have two brigades of Mongol cavalry massed on the Siberian-Manchurian frontier at Barga.
